

JUNE SSL ENJOY WEEK

How have we made it to another enjoy week? Where we focus a little bit on mindset? You know, it's the middle of the year, so time for some big picture thinking, because the years can fly by, don't you reckon? We can think that we were going to have achieved so much, or we'd be in a completely different spot, and it might feel like you're a bit stuck. I wanna talk to you today about your imagination, and the fact that, what you've created for your life is only limited by your imagination.

Think about what you have right now. What you're doing. It's because you have already thought about doing it, right? What if this week, we just let our imaginations run wild? We've got a big piece of paper, or small piece, or a blackboard, or whiteboard, whatever it is, and just let our imaginations run wild and free. What would you want for your life? How would you be living? Who would you be spending most time with? What work would you be doing? How would you be eating? Exercising, all those things, big picture. Run away with it.

I don't care if it seems completely irrational, and is coming totally out of left field. Sometimes, that left field stuff, that's where the gold is. Your job this week is to indulge your imagination. Think really big picture. Think wild ideas for yourself. Write them down, and then reflect on them. Because here's the thing, as soon as you've thought it, and you can see it, then you have the ability to go ahead and create that change.

Be the person who shows up for that big dream. But until you've actually articulated what it is or thought it, we can't move towards, it's not going to appear from nowhere. I hope that makes sense.

What I have known to be true is that wherever I focus my attention, energy flows there, and things start to happen, and you're like, "What? How do you ... I just got an email asking me to ... What? I mean I literally only thought that last that that would be a cool thing to do, and now all this stuff is kind of showing up. So weird."

Or you find yourself living in a house that you had pictured in your brain. Or you're unhappy because the house that you're currently living in, or your current situation isn't what quite what you saw. Let your imagination run free because there is so much power in thinking the thought, and then focusing your attention somewhere so that things can happen for you. I hope this makes sense. You know I'm more than happy to answer any questions on this stuff if it's a little bit too out there.

I know that your success, and you having what you want for your life, is only limited by your imagination, so I want you to indulge it. 'Cause I want you to feel like anything is possible for you. Right on. Let me know how you go. I am dying to hear how you go with this little challenge, and I look forward to seeing you next week. See yeah.